

KARIM NCHARE

kfogam@africanschoolofeconomics.com / afogam@princeton.edu

Education

Ph.D. in Economics, The Pennsylvania State University (PSU), USA 2019
M.Sc. in Economics, University of Montreal (UdeM), Canada 2015
M.Sc. in Statistics and Applied Economics, ENSEA, Cote d'Ivoire 2012
M.Sc. in Mathematics, University of Yaounde I, Cameroon 2009
B.Sc. in Mathematics, University of Yaounde I, Cameroon 2008

Employment

Assistant Professor of Economics, African School of Economics (ASE), Benin 2019-Present
Visiting Research Scholar, Department of Politics, Princeton University 2019-Present
Instructor, Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth, Carlisle Summer 2019
Instructor/Teaching Assistant, Department of Economics, The Pennsylvania State University 2014-2019
Teaching Assistant, Department of Economics, University of Montreal 2012-2014

Courses Taught

Computational Economics and Econometrics, African School of Economics Fall 2019
Probability and Game Theory, Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth Summer 2019
Introductory Microeconomic Analysis and Policy, The Pennsylvania State University Summer 2018
Introduction to Econometrics, The Pennsylvania State University Summer 2016

References

Professor Leonard Watchekon, Founder and Director, African School of Economics. lwantche@princeton.edu
Professor Marc Henry, Graduate Program Director, The Pennsylvania State University. marc.henry@psu.edu
Dr. Daolu Cai, Visiting Senior Fellow at National University of Singapore (NUS). bizcd@nus.edu.sg

Research Interests

Econometric Theory, Causal Inference, Efficiency Analysis, Education Economics, Development Economics

Working Papers

“Partial Identification of Preferences and Counterfactuals in discrete choice models with inattention,” 2019

“Quantile Difference in Differences with Time-varying Qualification in Panel Data,” 2020 (With Ryo Makioka)

Works in Progress

Impact Evaluation of the Education Sector Support Programme in Nigeria (ESSPIN): How effective are School Based Management Committees(SBMC)?

Long Term Effects of Free Primary Education Policies in Nigeria: A Cliometric Analysis.

Honors and Awards

Research on Improving Systems of Education (RISE) in Nigeria Grant, Research Team. P.I.: Leonard Wantchekon (Princeton University and ASE).

2020-2021 Africa Multiple Cluster of Excellence Fellow at University of Bayreuth (Germany).

Young African Scientist Fellow at the 7th Meeting of Nobel Laureates on Economic Sciences.

Graduate Assistantship, PSU (2014-2019), Online Graduate Student Teaching Certificate, PSU (2017), Outstanding Graduate Teaching Assistant Award, UdeM (2014), Graduate Assistantship, UdeM (2012-2014)

Computer Skills

Latex, Matlab, R, SPSS, Stata